

Vaccination and immunisation

The chiropractic curriculum at Macquarie University covers the basics of infectious diseases, immunology, vaccines, and immunisation.

Based on the current scientific evidence, the Department of Chiropractic recommends routine immunisation in accordance with The Australian Immunisation Handbook and the Australian National Immunisation Program Schedule.

Graduates from our program are educated to function in public health policy promotion according to these guidelines.